EASTER PASSOVER HOLIDAY RECOMMENDATIONS

While the world continues to battle coronavirus, many celebrations and events have been canceled. The Easter holiday is upon us. To further combat the spread of COVID-19 please continue to stay at home and limit movements outside of your homes beyond essential needs. It is still very IMPORTANT to continue to follow the recommendations to stay home at this time. Please do not gather in groups, and congregations should not meet in person for Passover or Easter Worship Services this weekend.

There are plenty of ways to make Passover and Easter special this year while following protocol to slow the spread of COVID-19. Visiting loved ones remotely using social media is one way to connect. Thanks to technology, the Easter bunny can still meet children remotely and virtual Easter religious services may still be an option. Cooking a special meal, playing games, leaving a gift on someone's doorstep, decorating the house, or inventing a new Easter tradition are a few creative ways to observe Easter. Families can still celebrate the deeper and real meaning behind the holiday.

We appreciate all of the sacrifices that our families and residents are making for the greater good of the community.

Thank You
